Without mom to care for them, these kittens need your help! Neonatal kittens especially require round-the-clock care including bottle-feedings.

Go here for more help: alleycat.org/Neonatal

TIP: Newborn, or “neonatal,” kittens have closed eyes, folded ears, and can’t walk. Be extra careful with these fragile babies.

Eight-week-old kittens play, behave, and look like adult cats. They should weigh at least 2 pounds and can be spayed or neutered!

Go here for more help: alleycat.org/MomAndKittens

Kittens over 4 months old cannot be socialized, but will live long, healthy outdoor lives. Neuter and vaccinate before returning them to their colony.

Go here for more help: alleycat.org/TNR

Visit alleycat.org/KittenProgression to help determine how old the kittens are.

TICKET:

This chart is just the quick version of what you need to know!
Get detailed information on how to care for kittens at alleycat.org/Kittens.